Founder and Principal

HC Marketing

Established in 2003, HC Marketing is a physician engagement and healthcare marketing communications firm. HC Marketing's leadership has spent years developing tailored physician-centric programs to engage physicians during the value-based transition.

Gary Stelluti oversees all aspects of client relations, and along with the HC Marketing team provides the skills and expertise to create successful client solutions – including physician engagement strategies, clinically integrated network communications and network development, brand identities, community positioning strategies, advertising, and media relations. HC Marketing's portfolio includes clients throughout the United States.
