

Eric Greenberg, JD

Eric F. Greenberg is Principal Attorney of the law firm Eric F. Greenberg, P. C., with a practice concentrated in food and drug law, packaging law, and commercial litigation. His food and drug work has included regulatory counseling, label and claims review, new product development, GRAS and food contact materials evaluations and clearances, negotiations with the U.S. Food and Drug Administration and state agencies, handling recalls, and defending enforcement actions. He counsels a wide range of consumer product companies, manufacturers and others on regulatory and labeling requirements, and handles related contractual and litigation matters.

He is a member of the Trial Bar of the US District Court for the Northern District of Illinois, and is an experienced trial and litigation practitioner in both federal and state courts. In addition to his law practice, Eric is a member of the Adjunct Faculty of the Chicago-Kent College of Law, where he teaches Food and Drug Law and Administrative Law, and of the Michigan State University School of Packaging, where he teaches Packaging Law and Regulation. He serves as monthly legal columnist for Packaging World Magazine. Eric wrote the book, Guide to Packaging Law, the Second Edition of which was published in October 2007. He serves as General Counsel to the Contract Packaging Association. Eric received his undergraduate degree from Northwestern University in 1980. He earned his law degree from Cornell Law School in 1983.

Kerry Toth Rost, DPM, JD

Dr. Rost is an Associate with the law firm of Eric F. Greenberg, PC, in Chicago, IL where she practices Food and Drug Law, Packaging Law, and Commercial Litigation. She assists companies in establishing the suitable regulatory status of their products under the requirements of various federal and state laws and agencies including the U.S. Food and Drug Administration, U.S. Department of Agriculture, and U.S. Environmental Protection Agency, and also advises clients regarding such requirements in Canada and the European Union. Dr. Rost is a member of the bars of Illinois and the U.S. District Court, Northern District of Illinois.