

One Intensive Day with Food Labels

April 20, 2018 • Chicago, IL USA

We have developed a new and unique one-day intensive course that takes a deep-dive into special issues and hot topics in food labeling. For those who already have some foundation in the basics of FDA food label requirements, this class will better-equip you to identify and resolve complex labeling issues, such as: organic, natural, healthy, non-GMO and others. Along the way there will be plenty of time for your questions and interaction with the instructors. A valuable opportunity to engage and workshop with two experienced food label attorneys.

The course is designed to help a wide range of food personnel including product developers, regulatory compliance, and QA/QC become better equipped to identify and resolve labeling issues dealing with a variety of topics. The course also addresses the relationship between FDA regulatory requirements and emerging trends in civil cases against food companies for label violations of state laws brought by private parties.
