Columbia
COLLEGE CHICAGO

GREETINGS FROM PRESIDENT KIM

Welcome to our annual Parent and Family Weekend. We are delighted to have you with us and encourage you to take full advantage of the programs and sessions on offer over the next two days.

This is always an important event in the life of the college. We are of course excited about showing off the vibrant artistic and community culture that our students inhabit and help to create. You will be able to experience it first-hand at the annual Wabash Arts Corridor Crawl on Friday afternoon and evening. At the same time, though, we want to hear from you and talk with you about your impressions, your questions, and your concerns. Formal opportunities for meetings with student services staff are built into the schedule, and we expect that the discussions at the group panels will also open up some illuminating topics. Above all, I hope that you will come away from the weekend with a clear sense of our commitment to facilitating the success of every student who enrolls here.

I look forward to greeting you at the president's reception on Saturday afternoon.

Location: 1104 S. Wabash, Conaway Center, 1st Floor

THE CHAT SERIES

There are very few guarantees in creative practice, or in life, so we encourage our students to embrace The Principles for Student Success to live what they love, and graduate as well-rounded citizens of the world ready to make their mark in creative disciplines. Attend a Chat Session to learn more about how your student can embrace these core principles throughout their academic career.

Chat Session: Tapping into a Creative Community Form a Creative Crew. Connect to Faculty. Embrace Diversity.

Meet students who have learned to create their creative crew and take advantage of all that Columbia has to offer through events, volunteering, student organizations and building relationships within their classrooms.

Moderated by Sarah Shaaban (Assistant Director of Student Activities & Leadership) and Kimberly Weatherly (Director of Multicultural Affairs)

Location: HAUS, 623 S. Wabash, 1st Floor

Chat Session: City as Our Campus Explore Your Campus. Engage with the City.

Chicago is our campus. We encourage our students to feed off the power, diversity, contradictions, and complexities the city represents. Meet students who have learned to navigate around the city and collaborate within it.

Moderated by Paul Teruel (Director of Community Partnerships, Center for Community Arts Partnerships) and Kari Sommers (Assistant Dean of Student Life)

Location: Collins Hall, 624 S. Wabash, Room 602

Chat Session: Body and Mind Live Intellectually. Stay Strong.

To advance your own thinking, you must first grapple with others' ideas. Ask questions and seek answers. Dive into the Liberal Arts and Science Core, and value the body of knowledge it offers just as much as you value your major and your creative development. Presented by Pegeen Reichert Powell (Associate Professor), Erin McCarthy (Associate Chair), Pan Papacosta (Professor), Alexios Moore (Lecturer), and Neil Pagano (Associate Dean)

Location: Hokin Hall, 623 S. Wabash, 1st Floor

Chat Session: Make Your Mark | Build Your Body of Work.

As students progress in their major we expect them to create a body of work. It's a messy process but over time, their work will become mature and substantive. Meet students who have developed an entrepreneurial spirit and have made connections with creative professionals in their fields. Moderated by Rob Funderburk (Creative Industry Liaison, Portfolio Center)

Location: Ferguson Hall, 600 S. Michigan, 1st Floor
