

Mick Carter, CCO RedEye

With a career spanning over 25 years, Michael Carter has gained a solid reputation for leading and growing successful sales channels, people and teams.

A superb motivator with an innate understanding of the sales process, Michael has successfully created and led number one sales teams across a range of industries, most recently having spent 10 years in the technology and telematics sector.

His obsession with customer experience has provided Michael with excellent operational insights to affect business growth and set the benchmark for customer experience in both pre and post sales.

Michael is an experienced and highly regarded public speaker, presenter and sales trainer.

Vicki Grant, Project Manager

Vicki Grant is Projects Manager of RedEye, one of Australia's fastest growing startups and the first software business to make engineering data truly mobile. With a career spanning over 30 years, Vicki has gained solid experience in the information technology sector whose strengths lie in communication and organisation.