Where do you turn when your client or family is about to fall through the cracks? Where can you turn to learn something about finding resources in your community, referring special populations, and learn more information about issues affecting children & adolescents? More importantly, how can they learn about you, your private practice, your hospital services, and your expertise in behavioral health?

Bring your business cards and brochures, and get ready to "speed date" your services as you hear more about existing and new programs to support your practice and meet your clients' needs.

Its mission is to:

- ◆ Connect the community with specialized mental health and wellness resources
- ◆ Provide services that improve the quality of life
- ◆ Promote effective services where mental health needs exist

MHAMT believes that mental illness is real and treatable, every life is worth saving, and there is no health without mental health.

This seminar is part of MHAMT's educational outreach. It reinforces our commitment to improving the quality of care for mental health consumers and to advancing research-based knowledge. It also serves as an important tool for professionals who work with mental health consumers.
