Ostrava is the capital of the Moravian-Silesian Region

Ostrava is the second and third largest city in the Czech Republic, with regard to its area and population respectively. Thanks to its proactive approach, it is the most attractive investment destination in the Czech Republic as well as the entire CE region. This metropolis has a population of 303 thousand and, moreover, it is the administrative centre for the Moravian – Silesian region, where over 1.2 million people live. Ostrava is strategically located in the north-eastern part of the country, on the route of the north-southern corridor between the Baltic and Adriatic Seas. Benefiting from extremely easy access to the Polish and Slovak markets, the city confirms its position as the economic, business and cultural centre for the entire Euroregion.
