

The 5 Most Important Moments in Your Career

Speaker: Bob Prentiss

What defines a career? What are those key moments that will shape the work that you do and define who you are happily ever after? These crucial, defining moments are what will lead you to career success and happiness. How do you know when these moments will happen? How can you learn from them? Most people will say they did not recognize these important moments happening until much later. The problem? You could wait an entire lifetime if you take that approach. And who wants to wait that long for career happiness? Come join me for a dynamic and eye-opening session that will help you not only recognize the most important moments of your career but help you define the impact you have on people, your projects and your organization when you have them.

Key Learnings

1. Learn what the top 5 moments in your career are.
2. Learn how to accelerate these top 5 moments.
3. Understand how you impact the people, the projects and the organization when these moments occur.
4. Learn my personally designed model for change readiness that you will use to determine your appetite for new change and new career moments.