Center for Health & Wellbeing Refund Policy

When Participants Must Cancel their Program Registration:

In order to receive a refund, participants must cancel their program registration at least one day prior to the start of the program. Refunds will include the ticket price less the Eventbrite fees (which consists of the payment processing fee and the service fee combined).

Cancelling can be done in two easy ways: by calling 407.644.2492 and selecting Option 1 to speak to a Center representative; or by using the online ticket cancellation option in the original confirmation email from Eventbrite.

When the Center for Health & Wellbeing Must Cancel or Postpone a Program:

If the Center for Health & Wellbeing must cancel or postpone a program for any reason, we will make every effort to inform program participants of the change prior to the program's start time. Participants will receive a full refund or credit.

If a minimum number of program registrations is not met, the Center for Health & Wellbeing reserves the right to cancel or postpone the program at any time.
