Powering and empowering – People, communities and businesses

Wednesday, 28 September 2016, 09.30hrs – 15.30hrs
Emirates Arena and Sir Chris Hoy Velodrome, 1000 London Rd, Glasgow G40 3HG

Morning two workshop options – please select one

Workshop 1 - Strengthen your business through sustainability

The business benefits of improved sustainability are many and diverse, including cost savings, enhanced competitiveness, improved reputation and staff retention.

This session will outline support services available to help organisations improve their environmental performance, save money and reduce energy, water and waste. It will also look at engaging with staff on energy efficiency at home, and sustainable transport.

Home Energy Scotland advisors have supported hundreds of businesses to achieve savings. Let us assist you to identify the priority areas relevant to your business and provide information about support and funding streams available to help you get started.

Workshop 2 - Support for the private rented sector

Making energy efficiency improvements to properties in the private rented sector makes sense for everyone – both in terms of cost and comfort levels.

There is help and support available to private sector landlords and private sector tenants in Scotland.

Join this session to hear about the benefits of making rented properties more energy efficient, the type of support available to both tenants and landlords, and how to access this support.

- Landlords can benefit from free advice and property assessments, and financial support available for landlords
- Home Energy Scotland can support landlords with their responsibilities towards meeting set energy efficiency standards
- Find out about support and funding available for tenants

Afternoon two workshop options – please select one

Workshop 3 – Effective partnership working

Effective partnership working cannot be based on a 'one size fits all' model, and is something that not only needs to work for all partners involved but partner service-users and stakeholders.

Join this interactive session to look at organisational need, consider key questions around what an effective partnership with Home Energy Scotland looks and feels like, and explore how organisations can work better together.

Also, hear how Home Energy Scotland's new online referral mechanism is an easy way for partner organisations to refer households to Home Energy Scotland for energy saving advice, and track outcomes for insight and reporting and evidencing purposes.

Workshop 4 - Improving comfort levels, lowering energy bills - Support for the more vulnerable in Scotland

The Scottish Government's flagship fuel poverty alleviation scheme Warmer Homes Scotland is designed to help vulnerable people make their homes warmer and more comfortable by installing a range of energy saving measures.

Join this session to hear who may be eligible and could benefit from this scheme, and find out more about the range of measures available to help people improve the energy efficiency of their properties and so improve comfort levels and lower energy bills.

Find out how to access this scheme, and learn about the customer journey so that you too know what eligible clients and service-users can expect, and so can refer with confidence.

Places are limited and will be allocated on a first come, first served basis.
