

Lee Ussher - Social Media Babe

International Speaker, Social Media Strategist

When it comes to finding new and innovative ways to get you and your business in front of the people using Social Media, Lee Ussher (also known as the Social Media Babe) has a tonne of knowledge and strategies she loves to share.

Never one to sit still, she spends her days helping clients & other marketing agencies all over the world find new markets, expand their business reach and find opportunities to link buyers and sellers together.

Lee is a valued team member of a national company that regularly runs educational workshops on the latest effective Social Media strategies that work. As the Social Media Babe, she speaks regularly both nationally and internationally for varied groups of businesses including her fellow industry professionals who have one thing in common, their desire to both increase their knowledge and to get their message to the marketplace in the most time and cost effective way.

The next MNBN event will give you the opportunity to hear Lee speak personally and be available to answer any pressing questions you may have about improving your own business' use of social media over a up of coffee.

Website: <http://CustomFanPages.com.au>

Blogsite: <http://SocialMediaBabe.com>

Contact: lee@SocialMediaBabe.com