

SEXUALITY AND RELATIONSHIPS EDUCATION IN SCHOOLS

2017 Kimberley Workshop

Do you need some ideas on how to implement effective relationships and sexuality education in the classroom or school community?

Would you like to increase your confidence and skills to teach this challenging subject area?

This FREE 2-day workshop will assist you to plan, implement and assess effective sexuality and relationships education (SRE) in school settings. We will highlight the Growing & Developing Healthy Relationships resources (see www.gdhr.wa.gov.au) and will also explore other innovative resources and techniques that will help you to present key concepts to students.

Important notice:

Your place in this workshop is not automatically guaranteed upon completion of the registration form. The registration period closes on 23rd June, 2017 and final places will be confirmed after this date.

Preference will be given to teachers and applicants with the greatest need for SRE professional development training.

Group registrations (i.e. multiple teachers from one school) are strongly encouraged. If you are not a school teacher, we still encourage you to apply, but your application would be strengthened if you can encourage a teacher from your school to join you.

- * Full attendance on both days is required. A certificate of attendance will be provided on completion of both days.
- * Lunch and refreshments are provided.
- * Attendees will need to complete some pre-reading prior to attending this event. This work will take less than 2 hours and you will receive official recognition for this self-directed learning.
- * For people travelling to Broome, some funding is available to assist with travel expenses. Please complete the necessary details as part of your registration and we will advise you of the assistance we can provide if/when your place in the workshop is confirmed.

The following topics will be covered in this training:

- What is meant by SRE?
- Overcoming barriers to delivering effective SRE
- A whole-school approach to SRE
- Affirming diversity
- Sexually transmissible infections within the Kimberley region
- Protective behaviours
- Love and relationships
- Implications of social media and sexually explicit imagery
- Engaging classroom strategies
- Showcase of latest resources

All our programs are generously funded by the WA Department of Health, Sexual Health & Blood-borne Virus Program.
